

Final Extension of application period for the 2019-2020 admission for undergraduate programs

The management of the University of Rwanda informs the general public that the period of applications for undergraduate admission for 2019-2020 Academic Year is extended to 30th September 2019. This extension is due to the requests that UR have been receiving from candidates who did not meet the previous deadline.

All candidates who missed the opportunity to apply are advised to apply online as described on the UR website (www.admissions.ur.ac.rw). The online application system will close on 30th September 2019 Midnight. For this reason all candidates must arrange to pay and submit applications before that time.

Note: Applicants willing to apply as privately sponsored candidates are reminded to take this opportunity to submit their applications for this academic Year. There will be no separate period for them.
